Performance Transformation

Data-Driven Solution for Clinical and Operational Excellence

Healthcare organizations today are faced with a variety of complex challenges that are impacting organizational performance. An aging population, declining reimbursements, an increased focus on quality and patient satisfaction, and shrinking hospital margins are putting significant pressure on healthcare organizations to deliver improved care at the lowest possible cost. As such, healthcare leaders are being pressed to improve financial, clinical, and operational performance in new ways.

A NEW APPROACH TO TRANSFORM PERFORMANCE

Leidos Health's Performance Transformation solution provides an innovative, data-driven methodology that strategically identifies opportunities for organizational improvement. Taking a holistic view of enterprise performance, we integrate clinical, financial, supply chain, pharma, and ambulatory analysis to help drive change. Our approach combines our data expertise, deep domain experience, and targeted data analytics to achieve sustainable clinical and operational improvements tied to measurable outcomes.

OUR COLLABORATIVE MODEL

- ▶ Compares your performance to national averages and cohorts to determine variations from best in class performance
- ▶ Provides for clinically and risk adjusted algorthims to standardize data
- ▶ Identifies specific areas of improvement (even down to the DRG level) and metrics to help prioritize impacts
- ▶ Delivers Vectors of Change that include high impact remediations to drive targeted outcomes
- ▶ Includes dynamic reporting dashboard to model, monitor, and maintain performance impacts
