

---

Richard Moseley

VICE PRESIDENT AND MANAGING DIRECTOR, DEFENCE

---

Richard Moseley is the Vice President and Managing Director of the Defence Division at Leidos UK.

Richard joined the business in 2019 from BAE Systems where he held positions in business unit leadership, strategy, operations and programme management over a 14 year term, mostly served in their Applied Intelligence line of business and, prior to acquisition, Detica. He led the Electronic Systems Group, a supplier of advanced digital solutions into UK Government clients, before creating, integrating and leading their international government business unit. Prior to this Richard held roles in software engineering, project management and research at Thales and Sharp Laboratories of Europe.

Richard has a PhD in Physics from the University of St Andrews and is a Fellow of the IET.