

Since the Center for Disaster Preparedness' inception, Leidos has been committed to helping the CDP provide advanced all-hazards and mass casualty training to emergency responders. Leidos provides resident (on campus) and non-resident (mobile) training to responders from across the United States, its territories, and international agencies in order to support the core mission of the CDP.

The number of years as the primary training delivery services contractor for the Center for Domestic Preparedness (CDP)

45+

courses taught by Leidos out of 50+ CDP courses

24,000+

courses delivered

Access to 400+

DHS-certified instructors/subject matter experts from 43 states and territories

4,000+

non-expendable equipment line items and...

1,000+

types of consumable products maintained as training supplies

Mobile training in states/territories

54

700,000+

student trained

Average of 15,000+

resident course graduates and 26,000+

mobile course graduates per year

160+

Integrated Capstone Event (ICE) Exercises conducted; students participating:

16,500+